RENEW THE OPPOSITION

MANCHURIAN TREATY AGAIN BEING ANTAGONIZED BY THE POWERS.

MAY CAUSE POSTPONEMENT

Native Newspapers Filled With Stories of Heavy Bribes Being Offered by Russia to Gain Her Ends—Ministers
Begin to Recognize Her as the Responsible Party in the Pending Negotiations.

Peking, Feb. 7.—The British, American and Japanese ministers here have renewed their opposition to the Manchurian arrangements between China and Russia. It is probable that this action will result in the further postponement of the consummation of this treaty.

The powers opposing the Manchurian treaty are now beginning to recognize the force of the representations of the Chinese plenipotentiaries that China is making the best terms possible for herself, and, incidentally, for the equal rights of the other nations in China, and are shifting their protests to Russia as the responsible party. Paul Lessar, the Russian minister here, is endeavoring to maintain the transparent diplomatic fiction that the Manchurian treaty and the Russo-Chinese bank agreement are not related. He has informed his colleagues that the Russian government has no official knowledge of the negotiations of the Russo-Chinese bank. The Russian agents are playing their parts with the greatest regard for appearances while M. Lessar is arranging the treaty with China. The manager of the bank, M. Pocattillo, one of the most able and trusted of the Russian agents in the East, is negotiating the bank agreement with Wang We Shao. In the light of the statements of Chinese officials that Russia insists upon the simultaneous signing of the Manchurian treaty and the bank agreement, the representations of M. Lessar fail to carry weight. The native newspapers are filled with stories that Russia is trying to gain her ends by offers of heavy bribes.

Germany remains a disinterested spectator of the affair. Ching Chi Tung, the viceroy of Hankow, and Li Ken Yi, the viceroy of Nankin, continue their efforts against the treaty. They are co-operating with the Japanese minister.

The correspondent of the Associated Press here has seen a draft of the agreement. This provides that China shall build all railways and develop all mines in Manchuria. If she is unable to command the capital she shall apply to the bank. If the bank is unable or unwilling to enter into arrangements, China may apply elsewhere for capital.

The final clause stipulates that the agreement shall in nowise impair the existing rights of other nations, which clause is palpably nullified by the preceding conditions.

CLAIMS IT WAS EXCESSIVE.

Judge Sets Aside Verdict in a Pearl Harbor Land Case.

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—The steamer Doric brings the following advice from Honolulu under date of Jan. 31: United States Judge Estes has set aside the verdict in the case of the Japanese company in which the jury brought in a verdict awarding the company $105,000, leasehold interest in the lands wanted for the naval station at Pearl harbor. The judge held that the award was excessive.

Reports have reached here of an alleged cure of leprosy in Taniti by the use of the Venezuelan plant tuatia, some of which was sent here some time ago by the United States government. The results here were not satisfactory.

The land office has announced the opening of about 200,000 acres of government land on the islands of Maui and Hawaii. Much of the land is forest, but some is farming land, offered in small tracts.

The British sloop-of-war Condor, long overdue from Victoria, has not yet been heard from.

EXTEND MONROE DOCTRINE.
Captain Hobson Urges That It Be Carried to the Walls of Peking.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 7.—Captain Richmond P. Hobson, who was a guest of the New Haven Business Men's association at their annual banquet, here urged that the Monroe doctrine be extended to the Philippines and to the walls of Peking, declaring that the United States should insist that Europeans shall not partition off China, but open it up to the trade of the world, as the United States opened up Japan. Among the dangers that face Europe he mentioned a possible Slavic invasion, in the event of which he said it would fall to the lot of the United States to assist in saving Europe from general war. Without a relatively powerful navy such action would be manifestly impossible.

Want a Railway Concession.

London, Feb. 7.—The Peking correspondent of The Times cables that two American missionaries Dr. Lowry and his son, have applied to Hui Yu Fen, the director of railways, for a concession for a railway from Peking to Kalgan, Chi-Li province, 125 miles northwest of Peking.

Strikers Lose the Contest.

Washington, Ind., Feb. 7.—The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern shop employees who have been out on strike for several weeks, have declared the strike off, having lost the contest. The men agree to return to work in a body or singly, as the company may desire.

Ask Fifty Per Cent Reduction.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The Cuban planters' committee, headed by F. P. Machado, has addressed a letter to the committee on ways and means imploring a 50 per cent reduction of the tariff on Cuban sugar and expressing a willingness to accept any of the methods proposed to accomplish this object. The letter states that two large estates have already closed and the situation is described as critical.

Municipal Ownership Bill Buried.

Des Moines, Feb. 7.—The house committee on municipal corporations has buried the bill providing for municipal ownership of franchised corporations by referring it to a sub-committee whose majority is opposed to municipal ownership. Mr. Sweeley, who is author of the bill, declares that if the bill is not reported favorably he will bring it up on the floor of the house.

MADE RAPID PROGRESS.

House Disposes of Over Half of the Legislative Appropriation Bill.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The house spent the day on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. Very rapid progress was made, 74 of the 130 pages of the bill being disposed of before adjournment. No debate of importance developed during the consideration of the bill and no amendments of importance were adopted.

A HEATED DISCUSSION

THE SENATE.

CRITICISED BY MR. HOAR

Massachusetts Senator Astonished
That Government Authorities Should Enforce Them—Mr. Foraker Defends the Commission and Announces That the American Army
Will Stay Until Victorious.

Washington, Feb. 7.—For four hours the senate had the Philippine tariff bill under discussion. The measure was completed so far as the Philippine committee is concerned, all of the committee amendments being adopted. Several other amendments, however, will be offered, one or two being pending.

Toward the close of the session the discussion became heated. In response to a resolution offered several days ago by Mr. Rawlins of Utah, the secretary of war transmitted to the senate the sedition laws enacted by the Philippine commission. They were read in full and immediately drew the fire of the opponents of the government's Philippine policy. Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts expressed his astonishment that such laws should be enforced by the government authorities.

Mr. Foraker of Ohio had read from the revised statutes of the United States the laws of congress relating to the crime of treason and similar offenses against the government and said that the acts passed by the Philippine commission were almost identical in their language with the laws enacted by congress in the days of the fathers of the republic and that there was nothing unprecedented or unusual about them.

The Ohio senator was interrupted continually and had several warm colloquies with senators who were opposing him. In one of them he announced with great earnestness that the American army would never return from the Philippines until it returned victorious, and that gentlemen in and out of congress, rail about it as they might, ought thoroughly to understand that fact.

In conclusion of the debate Mr. Hoar poured oil on the troubled waters of the senate, maintaining that men might well differ on any of the great questions now before the country, but that all were thoroughly loyal to the country and were doing their duty as they saw it.

REFUND OF DUTIES.

Important Decision by Comptroller of the Treasury.

New York, Feb. 7.—Mr. Tracewell, the comptroller of the treasury, has rendered a decision involving the question of refund on duties on goods imported from Porto Rico. The decision is given at the request of the secretary of the treasury, who asked as to his authority to refund moneys paid as duties, or as a fine equal to the duty, no protest having been filed against the assessment of these duties on certain merchandise brought into this country from Porto Rico after the ratification of the treaty of peace with Spain and before the taking effect of the act of April 12, 1900.

AS TO THE METRIC SYSTEM.

Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures Hears Business Men.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The house committee on coinage, weights and measures heard representatives of leading manufacturing and business houses on the advisability of adopting the metric system of weights and measures. Among those heard were Professor Elihu Thompson of the General Electric company; Henry Troemer, an extensive manufacturer; Dr. A. E. Kimmerly, consulting engineer of Philadelphia, and Professor W. W. Crosby of the Lowell school of technology. The sentiment was entirely favorable to the adoption of the metric system. The committee heretofore has secured the judgment of scientists on this subject and is now seeking to learn whether the practical business world will approve a change.

British Losses in South Africa.

London, Feb. 7.—The war office has published a summary of the British losses in South Africa. Up to Jan. 31 the total reduction of the forces from death or permanent disability was 25,895 men. The total of the casualties, including surviving wounded, was 34,000 officers and 100,701 men.

TRIED TO SUICIDE.

Count de Lucenay Held for Perjury at El Paso, Tex.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 7.—Count de Lucenay of Calcutta, India, was arraigned on the charge of false swearing during the day and was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000 bail. In default of bail he was sent back to jail. His bride, who sat by his side during the proceedings, returned to jail to be near her husband, whom she is not permitted to see. Just after the court had announced its decision the count reeled and fell to the floor in convulsions. Physicians who were summoned treated him for strychnine poisoning and after an hour's work restored him. He was conveyed back to jail and a short time later it was reported that he had attempted to drown himself in a bathtub. Subsequently it is said he broke up a glass bottle and attempted to swallow the fragments.

MOTIVE WAS ROBBERY.

Three Aged Recluses Murdered in Wyandotte County, Kan.

Kansas City, Feb. 7.—Upon the discovery during the day of the dead body of George Zimmerman, a farmer, 63 years old, at his home near Morris Station, Kan., the Wyandotte county officers concluded that Zimmerman and two other aged men, all recluses, have been murdered in Wyandotte county since Jan. 1 by the same persons, and in each case it is believed the motive has been robbery. Wednesday of last week the dead body of Thomas Carroll, an aged hermit, was found in a well near his home near Argentine. He had been dead nearly a month and the coroner's jury decided that he had been murdered. Two men and a woman are in the Argentine jail pending an investigation of the mysterious disappearance last week of Noah Long, another aged recluse.

WINDOW GLASS WAR.

Belligerent Companies Announce Lower Prices for May and June.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Independent Glass company, the real fighting factor in the glass war, has announced that for May and June delivery it would place window glass at a price lower than that at which glass was sold when the combine fell apart a month ago. The Independent people say they are determined to make and sell all the glass they can.

The Pittsburg Plate Glass company has renewed its contract with the Federation Co-Operative Window Glass company by which the Pittsburg company is to buy from the Federation a certain percentage of the latter's output at a price 4 per cent lower than the price demanded by the Independent company and the American Window Glass company.

IS GROWING WORSE.

Mrs. Soffel's Mental Condition Described as Approaching Collapse.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—Word comes from Butler to the effect that Mrs. Soffel, the accomplice of the Biddle brothers, is considerably worse. Her wound seems to be healing nicely, but she takes little nourishment and her mental condition is described as approaching collapse.

Harry Biddle, the brother of the dead men, who had their remains buried, says the graves will be protected indefinitely from vandals by armed guards.

USED HIM AS A SHIELD.

Insane Man Killed in an Attempted Jail Breaking in Colorado.

Greeley, Colo., Feb. 7.—Jailer Williams mortally wounded Peter Kane, an insane prisoner, in frustrating an attempt of two other prisoners to break jail. When Williams unlocked the cage for the purpose of putting Kane inside Thomas Huff and David Fair, charged with highway robbery, made a dash for the door. Williams shot at Huff, but the latter saved himself by holding Kane in front of himself as a shield.

Find Gold in York State.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Gold has lately been discovered on the farm of J. Lincoln Hockens of Depeyster. The discovery has been kept secret, awaiting the report of an expert assayer, which, just made, places the ore at a value of $75 per ton. Mr. Hockens has commenced mining on a large scale and has taken out a ton and a half of gold bearing quartz.

Wreckage From the Matewan.

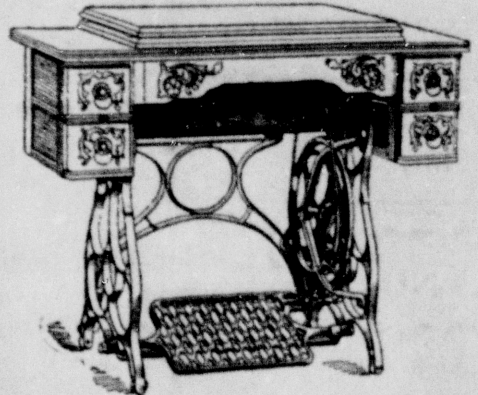

Port Townsend, Wash., Feb. 7.—Wreckage from the missing steamer Matewan, found by Indians south of Cape Flattery, was brought from Neah bay on the steamer Alice Gertrude during the day. It consisted of a medicine case, life preserver, life buoy and a bucket. The name "Matewan" was on all except the medicine chest.

Chilpancingo Celebrates.

Mexico City, Feb. 7.—Notwithstanding the devastation of the city of Chilpancingo and the fact that most of it is in ruins the people of that place celebrated with enthusiasm the anniversary of the signing of the federal constitution. The exercises were held in an extemporized pavilion, there being no available building standing in the city.

PRESENTED BY CARNEGIE.

Stevens Institute of Technology Receives an Engineering Laboratory.

New York, Feb. 7.—Andrew Carnegie formally presented to the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., the new building erected at his expense and known as the "Carnegie Laboratory of Engineering." The ceremonies consisted of the delivery of the keys of the building to Mr. Carnegie by the architects and the handing of these keys by Mr. Carnegie to S. Bayard Dod, president of the board of trustees, a few appropriate words accompanying the donation and acceptance.

Following this was the presentation to Mr. Carnegie by Dr. Morton, president of the faculty, acting for the Alumni association, of a beautiful decorated silver box containing a piece of the first "T" rail ever made. This rail was invented by R. L. Stevens and made in 1830 by Sir John Guest at his works in Wales. It was with these rails that the Camden and Amboy railroad was laid in 1831.

The collection which followed the exercises was novel in point of table decorations. There was a smelting furnace four feet high, which gave out a stream of punch; railroad tracks on which ran flat cars on trucks supporting "ingot moulds," and "ladles" filled with salads; an "open hearth furnace," so illuminated as to appear redhot, but yielding fried oysters; a Bessemer converter holding fancy cakes; kegs containing rail spikes of bread and cake, and ice cream served in the form of "T" rails.

DIVERSION OF WATERS.

Resolution for an American-Canadian Commission to Consider It.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Senator Platt of New York has introduced in the senate a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a joint commission by the United States and Canada to examine and report upon the diversion of the waters between the two countries. The resolution requires that each country shall appoint two members of the commission and that it shall investigate "the condition and uses of the waters adjacent to the boundary line between the United States and Canada, including all the waters of the lakes and rivers whose waters flow by the St. Lawrence river to the Atlantic ocean." The commission also is to report upon the effect upon the shores of these waters and the structures thereon by reason of the diversion of these waters from their natural channels, and, further, upon the measures necessary to regulate such diversion.

GETTING TO WORK.

Tax Bill Introduced in the Lower House of Minnesota Legislature.

St. Paul, Feb. 7.—The tax bill was introduced in the house during the morning by the committee on taxes and tax laws. Chairman Wallace of the committee immediately moved an adjournment and the motion was carried.

The committee then commenced hearings on the bill and a delegation from Duluth entered a protest against the abolition of the vessel tonnage tax. The members of the house, on request of Speaker Dowling, remained to the hearing, which was held in the chamber of the house.

The senate, under a suspension of the rules, appropriated $40,000 for mileage and incidental expenses of the session, and after a sharp debate over an amendment to the rules adjourned for the day.

SCHLEY'S VISIT ENDED.

The Admiral and Wife Leave Knoxville for Washington.

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 7.—The visit of Admiral and Mrs. Schley to Knoxville is ended so far as entertainment features are concerned and the visitors will leave in the morning for Washington. A reception tendered the admiral by the Cumberland club was the closing feature. The entire clubhouse was decorated handsomely in the tricolor. The admiral spoke briefly, on account of a severe cold, thanking Knoxville for its hospitality. While this event was in progress Mrs. Schley was the guest at a dinner tendered by Mrs. Lawrence D. Tyson.

Are Given Up for Dead.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The four people missing since the explosion of the boilers of the towboat John W. Ailes of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company near Braddock early Wednesday morning, have been given up as dead. The presumption is that they were either killed outright or blown into the river and drowned. The company has offered a reward of $50 for each of the four bodies recovered.

New Orleans Carnival Opens.

New Orleans, Feb. 7.—The carnival of 1902 opened with the pageant of the Knights of Momus. The subject was Byron and there were 18 moving tableaux based upon well known poems. The parade was followed by a brilliant ball at the French Opera House. The Austrian cruiser Szigetvar and the auxiliary cruiser Buffalo head the visiting fleet and the crowd is already immense.

Russia to Gain Her Ends—Ministers

Peking, Feb. 7.—The British, American and Japanese ministers here have renewed their opposition to the Manchurian arrangements between China and Russia. It is probable that this action will result in the further postponement of the consummation of this treaty.

EXTEND MONROE DOCTRINE.

Captain Hobson Urges That It Be Carried to the Walls of Peking.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 7.—Captain Richmond P. Hobson, who was a guest of the New Haven Business Men's association at their annual banquet, was received with great enthusiasm. He urged that the Monroe doctrine be extended to the Philippines and to the walls of Peking, declaring that the United States should insist that Europeans shall not partition off China, but open it up to the trade of the world, as the United States opened up Japan. A HEATED DISCUSSION

THE SENATE.

Enforce Them—Mr. Foraker Defends the Commission and An-
Will Stay Until Victorious.

Washington, Feb. 7.—For four hours the senate had the Philippine tariff bill under discussion. The measure was completed so far as the Philippine committee is concerned, all of the committee amendments being adopted. Several other amendments, however, will be offered, one or two being pending.

Toward the close of the session the discussion became heated. In response to a resolution offered several days ago by Mr. Rawlins of Utah, the secretary of war transmitted to the senate the sedition laws enacted by the Philippine commission. They were read in full and immediately drew the fire of the opponents of the government's Philippine policy. Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts expressed his astonishment that such laws should be enforced by the government authorities.

Mr. Foraker of Ohio had read from the revised statutes of the United States the laws of congress relating to the crime of treason and similar offenses against the government and said that the acts passed by the Philippine commission were almost identical in their language with the laws enacted by congress in the days of the fathers of the republic and that there was nothing unprecedented or unusual about them.

The Ohio senator was interrupted continually and had several warm colloquies with senators who were opposing him. In one of them he announced with great earnestness that the American army would never return from the Philippines until it returned victorious, and that gentlemen in and out of congress, rail about it as they might, ought thoroughly to understand that fact.

In conclusion of the debate Mr. Hoar poured oil on the troubled waters of the senate, maintaining that men might well differ on any of the great questions now before the country, but that all were thoroughly loyal to the country and were doing their duty as they saw it.

Early in the day Mr. Scott of West Virginia delivered a speech in which he advocated an investigation of the San Bias route for an isthmian canal, and Mr. Hansbrough made a carefully prepared address on his bill to provide a national system of irrigation of arid lands.

REFUND OF DUTIES.

New York, Feb. 7.—Mr. Tracewell, the comptroller of the treasury, has rendered a decision involving the question of refund on duties on goods imported from Porto Rico. The decision is given at the request of the secretary of the treasury, who asked as to his authority to refund moneys paid as duties, or as a fine equal to the duty, no protest having been filed against the assessment of these duties on certain merchandise brought into this country from Porto Rico after the ratification of the treaty of peace with Spain and before the taking effect of the act of April 12, 1900.

The comptroller holds in effect that where no protests have been filed no duties can be refunded on goods imported from Porto Rico between April 1, 1899, and May 1, 1900. All applications for refund of duties where no protests have been filed must be sent to the secretary of the treasury for certification to congress for appropriation.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Independent Glass company, the real fighting factor in the glass war, has announced that for May and June delivery it would place window glass at a price lower than that at which glass was sold when the combine fell apart a month ago. The independent people say they are determined to make and sell all the glass they can.

The Pittsburg Plate Glass company has renewed its contract with the Federation Co-Operative Window Glass company by which the Pittsburg company is to buy from the Federation a certain percentage of the latter's output at a price 4 per cent lower than the price demanded by the independent company and the American Window Glass company.

PRESENTED BY CARNEGIE.

New York, Feb. 7.—Andrew Carnegie formally presented to the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., the new building erected at his expense and known as the "Carnegie Laboratory of Engineering." The ceremonies consisted of the delivery of the keys of the building to Mr. Carnegie by the architects and the handing of these keys by Mr. Carnegie to S. Bayard Dod, president of the board of trustees, a few appropriate words accompanying the donation and acceptance.

Following this was the presentation to Mr. Carnegie by Dr. Morton, president of the faculty, acting for the Alumni association, of a beautiful decorated silver box containing a piece of the first "T" rail ever made. This rail was invented by R. L. Stevens and made in 1830 by Sir John Guest at his works in Wales. It was with these rails that the Camden and Amboy railroad was laid in 1831.

The collection which followed the exercises was novel in point of table decorations. There was a smelting furnace four feet high, which gave out a stream of punch; railroad tracks on which ran flat cars on trucks supporting "ingot moulds," and "ladles" filled with salads; an "open hearth furnace," so illuminated as to appear redhot, but yielding fried oysters; a Bessemer converter holding fancy cakes; kegs containing rail spikes of bread and cake, and ice cream served in the form of "T" rails.

DIVERSION OF WATERS.

Resolution for an American-Canadian Commission to Consider It.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Senator Platt of New York has introduced in the senate a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a joint commission by the United States and Canada to examine and report upon the diversion of the waters between the two countries. The resolution requires that each country shall appoint two members of the commission and that it shall investigate "the condition and uses of the waters adjacent to the boundary line between the United States and Canada, including all the waters of the lakes and rivers whose waters flow by the St. Lawrence river to the Atlantic ocean." The commission also is to report upon the effect upon the shores of these waters and the structures thereon by reason of the diversion of these waters from their natural channels, and upon the interests of navigation, and, further, upon the measures necessary to regulate such diversion.

GETTING TO WORK.

St. Paul, Feb. 7.—The tax bill was introduced in the house during the morning by the committee on taxes and tax laws. Chairman Wallace of the committee immediately moved an adjournment and the motion was carried.

The committee then commenced hearings on the bill and a delegation from Duluth entered a protest against the abolition of the vessel tonnage tax. The members of the house, on request of Speaker Dowling, remained to the hearing, which was held in the chamber of the house.

The senate, under a suspension of the rules, appropriated $40,000 for mileage and incidental expenses of the session, and after a sharp debate over an amendment to the rules adjourned for the day.

SCHLEY'S VISIT ENDED.

The Admiral and Wife Leave Knoxville for Washington.

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 7.—The visit of Admiral and Mrs. Schley to Knoxville is ended so far as entertainment features are concerned and the visitors will leave in the morning for Washington. A reception tendered the admiral by the Cumberland club was the closing feature. The entire clubhouse was decorated handsomely in the tricolor. The admiral spoke briefly, on account of a severe cold, thanking Knoxville for its hospitality. While this event was in progress Mrs. Schley was the guest at a dinner tendered by Mrs. Lawrence D. Tyson.

Are Given Up for Dead.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The four people missing since the explosion of the boilers of the towboat John W. Allen of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company near Bradstock early Wednesday morning, have been given up as dead. The presumption is that they were either killed outright or blown into the river and drowned. The company has offered a reward of $50 for each of the four bodies recovered.

New Orleans Carnival Opens.

New Orleans, Feb. 7.—The carnival of 1902 opened with the pageant of the Knights of Momus. The subject was Byron and there were 18 moving tableaux based upon well known poems. The parade was followed by a brilliant ball at the French Opera House. The Austrian cruiser Szigetvar and the auxiliary cruiser Buffalo head the visiting fleet and the crowd is already immense.

MAN'S HIGHER DESTINY

Era of a Far Superior Race Predicted.

OUTLOOK A VERY BRIGHT ONE.

H. G. Wells, the Novelist, Declares the Human Race is Soon to Mount to Higher Plane of Thought and Power—Considers Great Men Only Symbols.

H. G. Wells, the scientific novelist, who out-Darwins Darwin and dares to direct a confident gaze upon a future still eons distant, delivered a lecture at the Royal Institute in London the other night on "Discovery of the Future," says the Chicago Tribune. Mr. Wells address was purely scientific and philo-sophical, but its tenor was that the present race of man is to be infinitely elevated above present conditions. He said:

"We are at the beginning of the greatest change that humanity has ever undergone. There will be no shock, as there is no shock at a cloudy day-break. We are creatures of twilight, but out of our minds and the lineage of our minds will spring minds that will reach forward fearlessly.

"A day will come—one day in the un-ending succession of days—when the beings now latent in our thoughts, hidden in our loins, shall stand on this earth as one stands on a footstool, and they shall laugh and reach out their hands among the stars."

Along certain lines, with certain limitations, Mr. Wells argued that a working knowledge of the things of the future was practicable and possible. As during the last century the amazing searchlight of inference had been passed into the remoter past, so by seeking for operating causes instead of for fossils the searchlight of inference might be thrown into the future. The man of science would believe at last that events in A. D. 4000 were fixed, settled and unchangeable as those of A. D. 1000, with the exception of the affairs of man and his children.

It is as simple and sure, declared Mr. Wells, to work out the changing orbit of the earth in future until the tidal drag hauls one unchanging face at last toward the sun as it is to work back to its blazing, molten past.

It might be argued that man, indi-vidually and collectively, was an in-calculable factor, a new element offer-ing the nature of the inquiry and stamping it as vain and hopeless, but Mr. Wells seemed to favor the idea that man, though complicating, did not alter the essential nature of induction. He did not believe in the importance of the leading man, and he confessed to a belief that if by some juggling with space and time Caesar, Napoleon, William the Conqueror and other great individualities had been changed at birth it would not have produced any serious dislocation of the course of destiny.

Great men, he declared, were no more than images and symbols and in-struments taken at haphazard by the incessant, consistent forces behind them. They were the pennils which Fate used in her writing, and the more one was inclined to trust these forces behind individuals the more one could believe in the possibility of a reasoned inductive view of the future that would serve us in politics, morals, social contrivances and in a thousand specious ways.

A deliberate direction of historical, economic and social study toward the future and in a deliberate and courage-ous reference to the future in moral and religious discussion would be enor-mously stimulating and profitable to the intellectual life.

That man is not final is a great and disturbing fact in scientific discovery in the future, and the question, What is to come after man? is the most per-sistently fascinating, insoluble ques-tion in the world. But for the near future some few general statements have grown more certain.

Two years ago it was an irrespons-ible suggestion, but it was the common-place remark of cabinet ministers, that our dense populations were in the open-ing phase of the process of the diffu-sion of aeration; secondly, it was in-evitable that the mass of the white pop-ulation of the world be forced in some way up the scale of efficiency within two or three decades.

Thirdly, reasons have been collected showing that in the comparative near future humanity would—indefinitely and conscientiously organizing itself into a great world state—purge itself of much that is mean and bestial and dreary in the world.

YACHT HOHENZOLLERN.

Description of Prince Henry's Official Residence While in America.

The imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which will be the temporary home of Prince Henry during his tour of the United States and the scene of brilliant festivities in honor of the launching of the emperor's new yacht, is the most completely equipped small floating palace imaginable.

The emperor's suit of cabins, which will be inhabited by Prince Henry, is located on the starboard side of the vessel, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. These rooms are exceedingly cheerful in aspect and elegantly, though not sumptuously fitted out. The library, or working room, as the emperor calls his particular den, is the most interesting. The entire room is held in light tints. An electric tele-graph distributed about the desk con-nects the ship's imperial master with every single part of his ocean home. Along the walls is a series of instru-ments indicating the speed of the vessel. To the right of the desk, with its back turned to the wall, is a large, comfort-able armchair upholstered in bright flowered chintz, the background of which harmonizes with the tinted walls. A round, highly polished mahog-any table and chairs to match com-plete one-half of the furnishings of the room. Dainty aquarelles and oil paint-ings by noted marine painters decorate the highly polished walls. The top of the desk is mounted with photographs of the empress, the children of the im-perial household and early and late portraits of England's dead queen, Vic-toria, the emperor's grandmother. Bracket shelves and inlaid bookcases contain a complete nautical and refer-ence library.

Back of the den is Emperor William's bedroom, quite simply furnished with a stationary couch bed, which affords a lounge in the day, a washstand and stationary compartments with drawers for the emperor's wardrobe. His ad-miral's cap usually dangles from a brass hook in the ceiling when he retires to this room for rest and quiet reading. Here, too, the walls are adorned with marine scenes in water color and oil.

In front of the den is the "blue saloon," or reception room, which oc-cupies the entire width of the ship. The walls and furnishings are in royal blue and silver, rich and chaste, accen-tuated to brilliancy when the sunlight floods this noble space, to which it has unobstructed access.

The suit of the empress is situated on the starboard side of the vessel and is furnished similarly to the em-peror's. Adjoining this suit is the din-ing room, immediately below the prom-enade deck.

The Hohenzollern is lighted through-out with electricity and at night af-fords a brilliant spectacle, with its thousands of incandescent bulbs under softly tinted globes and clustered in beautiful designs, illuminating every window and porthole of this royal yacht.

NOTED SEA FIGHTER.

The late Admiral Kimberly was born in Troy, N. Y., on April 2, 1830, and when he was three years old his fa-ther, Dr. Edward S. Kimberly, moved to Chicago to live. It was in 1846 that the admiral entered the navy, and when he retired ten years ago he had seen more than a score of years of sea duty and nearly as many in active shore service, says the New York Times. His first cruise was aboard the sloop Jamestown, which was en-gaged in suppressing the slave trade along the African coasts from 1847 to 1850. After being promoted through the grades of passed midshipman, mas-ter and lieutenant and serving in many different parts of the earth he was commissioned a lieutenant com-mander in 1862 and transferred to Far-ragut's flagship Hartford, on which he served until the end of the civil war.

After the war Kimberly was aboard the steam frigate Colorado, flagship of the European station, and in 1866 he was made a commander and went to the receiving ship New York. Then from 1870 to 1872 he commanded the Benicia on the Asiatic coast and later the Canonicus of the north Atlantic squadron. After having been commis-sioned a captain he commanded the Monongahela and then the Omaha. He was on duty at the New York navy yard from 1880 to 1883, a member of the examining and retiring board in Washington in 1884-85 and command-ant of the Boston navy yard in 1886. Meanwhile, in 1884, he had been made a commodore. On July 26, 1887, he be-came a rear admiral and hoisted his flag over the Pacific flagship in the same year. It was while he command-ed this fleet that the negotiations with Germany over the Samoan island diffi-culty called public attention to his tactfulness and ability.

His vessels were wrecked in the memorable Apian hurricane, and the flagship Trenton, together with the Nipsic, were entirely destroyed. It was while his vessel was pounding her-self to pieces that he ordered the band on deck to play "God Save the Queen" as the British ship Callopee steamed out to sea in safety.

In all Admiral Kimberly served in the United States navy for forty-five active years before he retired on April 2, 1892. He last came under public notice in July of last year, when he was appointed a member of the Schley court of inquiry, but did not serve.

Motors For Chinese.

A great deal of surprise and no little amusement has been caused among the Hongkong Chinese community by the spectacle of a well dressed Chinaman careering along the Praya on a motor cycle, says the Hongkong Press. The machine had seats for two behind, and these were occupied by two Chinese ladies. The Chinese are not prone to western innovations, yet the use by them of the cycle is increasing in the colony.

Era of a Far Superior Race Predicted.

H. G. Wells, the Novelist, Declares the Human Race is Soon to Mount to Higher Plane of Thought and Power—Considers Great Men Only Symbols.

H. G. Wells, the scientific novelist, who out-Darwins Darwin and dares to direct a confident gaze upon a future still eons distant, delivered a lecture at the Royal Institute in London the other night on "Discovery of the Future," says the Chicago Tribune. Mr. Wells address was purely scientific and philosophical, but its tenor was that the present race of man is to be infinitely elevated above present conditions. He said:

"We are at the beginning of the greatest change that humanity has ever undergone. There will be no shock, as there is no shock at a cloudy day-break. We are creatures of twilight, but out of our minds and the lineage of our minds will spring minds that will reach forward fearlessly.

"A day will come—one day in the unending succession of days—when the beings now latent in our thoughts, hidden in our loins, shall stand on this earth as one stands on a footstool, and they shall laugh and reach out their hands among the stars."

Along certain lines, with certain limitations, Mr. Wells argued that a working knowledge of the things of the future was practicable and possible. As during the last century the amazing searchlight of inference had been passed into the remotest past, so by seeking for operating causes instead of for fossils the searchlight of inference might be thrown into the future. The man of science would believe at last that events in A. D. 4000 were fixed, settled and unchangeable as those of A. D. 1000, with the exception of the affairs of man and his children.

It is as simple and sure, declared Mr. Wells, to work out the changing orbit of the earth in future until the tidal drag hauls one unchanging face at last toward the sun as it is to work back to its blazing, molten past.

It might be argued that man, individually and collectively, was an incalculable factor, a new element offering the nature of the inquiry and stamping it as vain and hopeless, but Mr. Wells seemed to favor the idea that man, though complicating, did not alter the essential nature of induction. He did not believe in the importance of the leading man, and he confessed to a belief that if by some juggling with space and time Caesar, Napoleon, William the Conqueror and other great individualities had been changed at birth it would not have produced any serious dislocation of the course of destiny.

Great men, he declared, were no more than images and symbols and instruments taken at haphazard by the incessant, consistent forces behind them. They were the pen nibs which Fate used in her writing, and the more one was inclined to trust these forces behind individuals the more one could believe in the possibility of a reasoned inductive view of the future that would serve us in politics, morals, social contrivances and in a thousand specious ways.

A deliberate direction of historical, economic and social study toward the future and in a deliberate and courageous reference to the future in moral and religious discussion would be enormously stimulating and profitable to the intellectual life.

That man is not final is a great and disturbing fact in scientific discovery in the future, and the question, What is to come after man? is the most persistently fascinating, insoluble question in the world. But for the near future some few general statements have grown more certain.

Two years ago it was an irresponsible suggestion, but it was the commonplace remark of cabinet ministers, that our dense populations were in the opening phase of the process of the diffusion of aeration; secondly, it was inevitable that the mass of the white population of the world be forced in some way up the scale of efficiency within two or three decades.

Thirdly, reasons have been collected showing that in the comparative near future humanity would—indeed itself and conscientiously organizing itself into a great world state—purge itself of much that is mean and bestial and dreary in the world.

Description of Prince Henry's Official Residence While in America. The imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which will be the temporary home of Prince Henry during his tour of the United States and the scene of brilliant festivities in honor of the launching of the emperor's new yacht, is the most completely equipped small floating palace imaginable.

The emperor's suit of cabins, which will be inhabited by Prince Henry, is located on the starboard side of the vessel, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. These rooms are exceedingly cheerful in aspect and elegantly, though not sumptuously fitted out. The library, or working room, as the emperor calls his particular den, is the most interesting. The entire room is held in light tints. An electric telegraph distributed about the deck connects the ship's imperial master with every single part of his ocean home. Along the walls is a series of instruments indicating the speed of the vessel. To the right of the desk, with its back turned to the wall, is a large, comfortable armchair upholstered in bright flowered chintz, the background of which harmonizes with the tinted walls. A round, highly polished mahogany table and chairs to match complete one-half of the furnishings of the room. Dainty aquarells and oil paintings by noted marine painters decorate the highly polished walls. The top of the desk is mounted with photographs of the empress, the children of the imperial household and early and late portraits of England's dead queen, Victoria, the emperor's grandmother. Bracket shelves and inlaid bookcases contain a complete nautical and reference library.

Back of the den is Emperor William's bedroom, quite simply furnished with a stationary couch bed, which affords a lounge in the day, a washstand and stationary compartments with drawers for the emperor's wardrobe. His admiral's cap usually dangles from a brass hook in the ceiling when he retires to this room for rest and quiet reading. Here, too, the walls are adorned with marine scenes in water color and oil.

In front of the den is the "blue saloon," or reception room, which occupies the entire width of the ship. The walls and furnishings are in royal blue and silver, rich and chaste, accentuated to brilliancy when the sunlight floods this noble space, to which it has unobstructed access.

The suit of the empress is situated on the starboard side of the vessel and is furnished similarly to the emperor's. Adjoining this suit is the dining room, immediately below the promenade deck.

The Hohenzollern is lighted throughout with electricity and at night affords a brilliant spectacle, with its thousands of incandescent bulbs under softly tinted globes and clustered in beautiful designs, illuminating every window and porthole of this royal yacht.

NOTED SEA FIGHTER.

The late Admiral Kimberly was born in Troy, N. Y., on April 2, 1830, and when he was three years old his father, Dr. Edward S. Kimberly, moved to Chicago to live. It was in 1846 that the admiral entered the navy, and when he retired ten years ago he had seen more than a score of years of sea duty and nearly as many in active shore service, says the New York Times. His first cruise was aboard the sloop Jamestown, which was engaged in suppressing the slave trade along the African coasts from 1847 to 1850. After being promoted through the grades of passed midshipman, master and lieutenant and serving in many different parts of the earth he was commissioned a lieutenant commander in 1862 and transferred to Farragut's flagship Hartford, on which he served until the end of the civil war.

After the war Kimberly was aboard the steam frigate Colorado, flagship of the European station, and in 1866 he was made a commander and went to the receiving ship New York. Then from 1870 to 1872 he commanded the Benicia on the Asiatic coast and later the Canonicus of the north Atlantic squadron. After having been commissioned a captain he commanded the Monongahela and then the Omaha. He was on duty at the New York navy yard from 1880 to 1883, a member of the examining and retiring board in Washington in 1884-85 and commander of the Boston navy yard in 1886. Meanwhile, in 1884, he had been made a commodore. On July 26, 1887, he became a rear admiral and hoisted his flag over the Pacific flagship in the same year. It was while he commanded this fleet that the negotiations with Germany over the Samoan island difficulty called public attention to his tactfulness and ability.

His vessels were wrecked in the memorable Aplan hurricane, and the flagship Trenton, together with the Nipsic, were entirely destroyed. It was while his vessel was pounding herself to pieces that he ordered the band on deck to play "God Save the Queen" as the British ship Calliope steamed out to sea in safety.

In all Admiral Kimberly served in the United States navy for forty-five active years before he retired on April 2, 1892. He last came under public notice in July of last year, when he was appointed a member of the Schley court of inquiry, but did not serve.

BRNERD MAY BE IN B. B. LEAGUE

C. P. Walker is Interested in Forming a League to be composed of Several Cities

AND HAS MADE A PROPOSITION.

League to be Made Up of Clubs From North Dakota and Minnesota Towns.

Now that spring is approaching the fans are starting to get busy talking base ball and it is not at all unlikely that Brainerd will see better ball this year than any time in its history. C. P. Walker, who is manager of the Red River Valley circuit of theatres, when he was in the city a few days ago called around to see Manager Lagerquist and made him a proposition to go into a league to be formed from teams from Fargo, Grand Forks, Winnipeg, Crookston, Brainerd, St. Cloud, Duluth and West Superior. After leaving here he went to Fargo and Grand Forks to look the matter up. He will see Manager Lagerquist later regarding Brainerd and in the meantime the latter will see what can be done.

Mr. Walker is talking the matter up in the other towns, as will be seen by the following from the Grand Forks Herald:

"C. P. Walker, one of the proprietors of the 'Bread and Basket Circuit' of theatres, baseball enthusiast, etc., spent Sunday and Monday in the city and, of course, had a few lines to say on the baseball situation for the coming season. Mr. Walker would like to see an eight club league for the coming summer, and in that connection stated that he did not see why Winnipeg, Grand Forks, Fargo, Brainerd, St. Cloud, West Superior and Duluth would not make a league that would be a winner from the start. Each town named has a large number of cranks in the baseball line and there is no doubt in his mind, that if the matter was taken up in time that such a league could be organized and made a success.

"He is of the opinion, however, that whatever is done should be done quickly, in order that the several towns could begin getting their teams together as soon as possible. Mr. Walker is of the opinion that each team should play all other towns under a guarantee solely and that in this way it would be a very easy matter for the various towns to figure what they would be called upon to produce at the required time. Some of the smaller places, he thinks, would be compelled to put up more cash than they would receive as a result of the games of the season, but after the guarantee was decided upon it would be a matter easily to be figured to see what sum it would be necessary to raise for this season.

"With the eight club league suggested there would be no very big jumps and Winnipeg would have as big a leap as any of them and Mr. Walker says that he would not be afraid to take the risk as far as that place was concerned. Brainerd is one of the smallest places mentioned and C. A. Lagerquist of that place feels certain that he could organize a stock company that would take up the matter and bring it to a successful conclusion. The baseball question has been discussed but very little thus far this year, but it would seem that if a league is to be formed it is time that something was being done to get things in shape for definite action later in the spring."

Grand Masquerade Ball.

Lumbermen will be Much Interested in a Case Pending to Determine Rights Of Loggers, Etc.

Lumbermen will be greatly interested in the suit of Clay & Dempsey against the Mississippi and Schoolcraft Improvement and Boom company, the Brainerd Lumber company, and W. E. Thurston to recover $40,000 as damages to the plaintiff's log "drive" on the upper Mississippi in the summer of 1900, says the Minneapolis Journal. The duties and rights of logging concerns using the same river will doubtless be determined to some extent by this case, although the only relief demanded is damages.

In July, 1900, the plaintiffs allege, they had 18,000,000 feet of logs to drive into Lake Irvine for Messrs. Walker and Akeley, but the defendants immediately began to hinder the operations for no other purpose than to cause such loss and annoyance as to deter them from such operation in the future. This, the plaintiffs say, was accomplished by forcing them to pay $3,000 in fees at the sorting gap, twenty-seven days before the money was due, causing the loss of the interest for that time; by delaying defendant's floats in the Mississippi so that the plaintiffs were forced to drive the logs of the defendants as well as their own; by running other drives into the river and by shutting dams needlessly. The drive involved in the suit, it is charged, was thus held back so long that when the fall rains began the logs were floated over the low lands and were lost or were only brought back in the channel with great trouble.

SETTERSTROM DAMAGE SUIT ON

RAILROAD COMPANY IS SUED.

The Case of J. M. Quinn vs. the Batchelder Company Goes to the Jury.

The case of Peter Setterstrom vs. the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Ry. company was taken up this afternoon before Judge McClenahan in the district court. This is a rather important and interesting case. Setterstrom sued the company to recover $2000 personal damages said to have been incurred while working for the company in this city in the capacity of a car cleaner. It seems that about eight months ago Setterstrom was busy working in one of the cars belonging to the company and a switch engine bumped into the car and knocked him down. He sustained injuries from which he states he has never recovered. He also claims that he had to quit work. Polk & Polk appear for the plaintiff, and Koon, Whelan and Bennett appear for the railway company.

The time was occupied in trying the case of J. M. Quinn vs. the Batchelder Lumber Co. in the district court yesterday and most of today.

There is not a great amount of money involved in this suit. The plaintiff asked for a verdict of $200 for logs said to have been taken out of the river by the defendant company. Then the company puts up a counter claim of $800. A. H. Polk and J. H. Warner appear for the defendants, and Judge Fleming appears for Quinn. The case went to the jury this afternoon.

Jerry Pembroke.

On January 29, 1902, another soldier of the Grand Army of the Republic, passed the last muster out call, Jerry Pembroke answering "here" to the Great Commander's roll call, at the old soldier's home at Minnehaha. He was born on Jan. 5, 1822, in Madison, Ill., where he lived with his parents until the age of five years. His parents then moved to Ottawa, Ill., and was the first white family to establish a town in the wilderness. Here he labored with the hardships of a pioneer's life, till he started out for himself. He became a stone mason and then contractor for stone bridge work, doing some notable work in this line. Mr. Pembroke was married at the early age of 18 to Miss Rachel Springer, and two children, Louise and Leora, were the offspring of this union. After twelve years of happy union his wife Rachel died.

When Lincoln called for troops Mr. Pembroke was among the first to answer and served until Jan. 31, 1862. He was discharged for disability, having lost an eye and contracted rheumatism.

On Oct. 18, 1862, he was married to Mrs. Rosa Lee Robinett, whom he met and wooed in Virginia. By this wife he had two more children, Ussula and Amanda. In 1886 Mr. Pembroke moved to Minneapolis where he spent the remainder of his days and where his wife passed to the unknown before him on Aug. 6, 1892.

Of the children living there is Leora Mosico who lives in Minneapolis, Amanda Gross, who lives in Denver, Col., and Mrs S. P. Stevens, who lives in Brainerd.

WAS THERE AT THE TIME.

G. W. Chadbourne was in Spokane, Wash. When the James Neill Episode Occurred Last Week.

G. W. Chadbourne, who has been on a western trip, was in Spokane, when the James Neill episode, which has been rehearsed in the papers the past two or three days, occurred. He says the next morning the papers were full of the accounts of the experience that Neill is said to have had with the Elk lodge the night before and they roasted him to a standstill.

The Elk lodge, which is one of the largest in the west, had prepared an elaborate spread for Neill and many prominent people of Spokane and other towns were present on the event of the young actor's installation in the lodge.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE U. OF M. GLEE CLUB.

A large audience greeted the University of Minnesota Mandolin and Glee club last night at the Brainerd Opera House, and the interest taken in the event was quite general. The Mandolin club opened the program and the boys were received with a round of applause as the curtain went up. The club was encored repeatedly and they made a big hit with a Brainerd audience. The Glee club was also good and compared favorably with organizations of this nature from the larger cities. The boys will be accorded an ovation any time they may happen to visit Brainerd.

"I am not home to cowards" are the words that come through the window of the Frietchie home in Frederick, Maryland, when Jack Negley asks Barbara Frietchie for an interview. Young Negley is the son of a rank secessionist, Col. Negley and has fallen desperately in love with the charming Southern belle. Barbara has fallen in love with a dashing northern officer named Captain Trumbull. After saying that she is not at home to cowards, there is a moments silence, then Jack quickly enters the house, and a moment after Barbara's singing ends abruptly. An indistinct controversy goes on inside until suddenly Jack's voice is heard strained and harsh, as it speaking beyond his control. "Very well, I'll go to war. Do you hear me Bab? I'll go and fight if you want it. I'll go. But not to fight for my country, understand that. To fight him, To kill this damned yankee who has taken you from me. You—Barbara Frietchie, whom I love better than the South, better than my life." The famous play is in four acts with all of the scenes laid in and around Frederick. The flag waving incident takes place in the fourth act. Mr. Neill will be seen as Captain Trumbull and Miss Edythe Chapman will be seen as Barbara, the role in which she has created a sensation. In fact the entire cast will be the same here as it has been since Mr. Neill first produced the play. A very large amount of elaborate special scenery is carried for the production.

At the Brainerd Opera House next Tuesday evening.

BRNERD MAY BE IN B. B. LEAGUE

C. P. Walker is Interested in Forming a League to be composed of Several Cities

AND HAS MADE A PROPOSITION.

League to be Made Up of Clubs From North Dakota and Minnesota Towns.

Now that spring is approaching the fans are starting to get busy talking base ball and it is not at all unlikely that Brainerd will see better ball this year than any time in its history. C. P. Walker, who is manager of the Red River Valley circuit of theatres, when he was in the city a few days ago called around to see Manager Lagerquist and made him a proposition to go into a league to be formed from teams from Fargo, Grand Forks, Winnipeg, Crookston, Brainerd, St. Cloud, Duluth and West Superior. After leaving here he went to Fargo and Grand Forks to look the matter up. He will see Manager Lagerquist later regarding Brainerd and in the meantime the latter will see what can be done.

Mr. Walker is talking the matter up in the other towns, as will be seen by the following from the Grand Forks Herald:

"C. P. Walker, one of the proprietors of the 'Bread and Basket Circuit' of theatres, baseball enthusiast, etc., spent Sunday and Monday in the city and, of course, had a few lines to say on the baseball situation for the coming season. Mr. Walker would like to see an eight club league for the coming summer, and in that connection stated that he did not see why Winnipeg, Grand Forks, Fargo, Brainerd, St. Cloud, West Superior and Duluth would not make a league that would be a winner from the start. Each town named has a large number of cranks in the baseball line and there is no doubt in his mind, that if the matter was taken up in time that such a league could be organized and made a success.

"He is of the opinion, however, that whatever is done should be done quickly, in order that the several towns could begin getting their teams together as soon as possible. Mr. Walker is of the opinion that each team should play all other towns under a guarantee solely and that in this way it would be a very easy matter for the various towns to figure what they would be called upon to produce at the required time. Some of the smaller places, he thinks, would be compelled to put up more cash than they would receive as a result of the games of the season, but after the guarantee was decided upon it would be a matter easily to be figured to see what sum it would be necessary to raise for this season.

"With the eight club league suggested there would be no very big jumps and Winnipeg would have as big a leap as any of them and Mr. Walker says that he would not be afraid to take the risk as far as that place was concerned. Brainerd is one of the smallest places mentioned and C. A. Lagerquist of that place feels certain that he could organize a stock company that would take up the matter and bring it to a successful conclusion. The baseball question has been discussed but very little thus far this year, but it would seem that if a league is to be formed it is time that something was being done to get things in shape for definite action later in the spring."

Grand Masquerade Ball.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 11, there will be a grand Masquerade ball at Gardner's hall given by "Jones' Jolly Jokers." Every one who attends is guaranteed a good time, as it will be the popular event of the season. There will be five valuable prizes, consisting of two gold rings given by S. R. Adair, two pairs slippers given by the Big 9 Shoe store, and a mammoth cake to the best cake walker. The grand cake walk will be the "killing" event of the evening. The above prizes can be seen in S. R. Adair's store window. Every one invited. Tickets 50 cents.

BRAINERD FIRM DEFENDANT.

Lumbermen will be Much Interested in a Case Pending to Determine Rights Of Loggers, Etc.

Lumbermen will be greatly interested in the suit of Clay & Dempsey against the Mississippi and Schoolcraft Improvement and Boom company, the Brainerd Lumber company, and W. E. Thurston to recover $40,000 as damages to the plaintiff's log "drive" on the upper Mississippi in the summer of 1900, says the Minneapolis Journal. The duties and rights of logging concerns using the same river will doubtless be determined to some extent by this case, although the only relief demanded is damages.

In July, 1900, the plaintiffs allege, they had 18,000,000 feet of logs to drive into Lake Irvine for Messrs. Walker and Akeley, but the defendants immediately began to hinder the operations for no other purpose than to cause such loss and annoyance as to deter them from such operation in the future. This, the plaintiffs say, was accomplished by forcing them to pay $3,000 in fees at the sorting gap, twenty-seven days before the money was due, causing the loss of the interest for that time; by delaying defendant's floats in the Mississippi so that the plaintiffs were forced to drive the logs of the defendants as well as their own; by running other drives into the river and by shutting dams needlessly. The drive involved in the suit, it is charged, was thus held back so long that when the fall rains began the logs were floated over the low lands and were lost or were only brought back in the channel with great trouble.

NEW CLOTHING STORE.

A. Mark of Princeton Has Rented the Nevers-Keene Building on Sixth Street South.

Brainerd is to have another exclusive clothing and gents furnishing goods house in the near future. A. Marks, of Princeton, has rented the building vacated by William Murray, the groceryman and he will move a new stock of goods here in the near future. He has bought the shelving in the Vanstrum Clothing Co. store on Front street and they will be moved into the Sixth street store at once.

The Vanstrum Clothing Co. have closed out their stock of clothing to Harry Kaatz. Mr. Mark is now in the east selecting a new stock of goods for his store in this city.

SETTERSTROM

DAMAGE SUIT ON

RAILROAD COMPANY IS SUED.

The Case of J. M. Quinn vs. the Batchelder Company Goes to the Jury.

The case of Peter Setterstrom vs. the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Ry. company was taken up this afternoon before Judge McClenahan in the district court. This is a rather important and interesting case. Setterstrom sued the company to recover $2000 personal damages said to have been incurred while working for the company in this city in the capacity of a car cleaner. It seems that about eight months ago Setterstrom was busy working in one of the cars belonging to the company and a switch engine bumped into the car and knocked him down. He sustained injuries from which he states he has never recovered. He also claims that he had to quit work. Polk & Polk appear for the plaintiff, and Koon, Whelan and Bennett appear for the railway company.

The time was occupied in trying the case of J. M. Quinn vs. the Batchelder Lumber Co. in the district court yesterday and most of today.

There is not a great amount of money involved in this suit. The plaintiff asked for a verdict of $200 for logs said to have been taken out of the river by the defendant company. Then the company puts up a counter claim of $800. A. H. Polk and J. H. Warner appear for the defendants, and Judge Fleming appears for Quinn. The case went to the jury this afternoon.

Jerry Pembroke.

On January 29, 1902, another soldier of the Grand Army of the Republic, passed the last muster out call, Jerry Pembroke answering "here" to the Great Commander's roll call, at the old soldier's home at Minnehaha. He was born on Jan. 5, 1822, in Madison, Ill., where he lived with his parents until the age of five years. His parents then moved to Ottawa, Ill., and was the first white family to establish a town in the wilderness. Here he labored with the hardships of a pioneer's life, 'till he started out for himself. He became a stone mason and then contractor for stone bridge work, doing some notable work in this line. Mr. Pembroke was married at the early age of 18 to Miss Rachel Springer, and two children, Louise and Leora, were the offspring of this union. After twelve years of happy union his wife Rachel died.

When Lincoln called for troops Mr. Pembroke was among the first to answer and served until Jan. 31, 1862. He was discharged for disability, having lost an eye and contracted rheumatism.

On Oct. 18, 1862, he was married to Mrs. Rosa Lee Robinett, whom he met and wooed in Virginia. By this wife he had two more children, Usula and Amanda. In 1886 Mr. Pembroke moved to Minneapolis where he spent the remainder of his days and where his wife passed to the unknown before him on Aug. 6, 1892.

Of the children living there is Leora Mosieo who lives in Minneapolis, Amanda Gross, who lives in Denver, Col., and Mrs. S. P. Stevens, who lives in Brainerd.

WAS THERE AT THE TIME.

G. W. Chadbourne was in Spokane, Wash. When the James Neill Episode Occurred Last Week.

G. W. Chadbourne, who has been on a western trip, was in Spokane, when the James Neill episode, which has been rehearsed in the papers the past two or three days, occurred. He says the next morning the papers were full of the accounts of the experience that Neill is said to have had with the Elk lodge the night before and they roasted him to a standstill.

The Elk lodge, which is one of the largest in the west, had prepared an elaborate spread for Neill and many prominent people of Spokane and other towns were present on the event of the young actor's installation in the lodge.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE U. OF M. GLEE CLUB.

A large audience greeted the University of Minnesota Mandolin and Glee club last night at the Brainerd Opera House, and the interest taken in the event was quite general. The Mandolin club opened the program and the boys were received with a round of applause as the curtain went up. The club was encoered repeatedly and they made a big bit with a Brainerd audience. The Glee club was also good and compared favorably with organizations of this nature from the larger cities. The boys will be accorded an ovation any time they may happen to visit Brainerd.

"I am not home to cowards" are the words that come through the window of the Frietchie home in Frederick, Maryland, when Jack Negley asks Barbara Frietchie for an interview. Young Negley is the son of a rank secessionist, Col. Negley and has fallen desperately in love with the charming Southern belle. Barbara has fallen in love with a dashing northern officer named Captain Trumbull. After saying that she is not at home to cowards, there is a moments silence, then Jack quickly enters the house, and a moment after Barbara's singing ends abruptly. An indistinct controversy goes on inside until suddenly Jack's voice is heard strained and harsh, as if speaking beyond his control.

"Very well, I'll go to war. Do you hear me Bab? I'll go and fight if you want it. I'll go. But not to fight for my country, understand that. To fight him, To kill this damned yankee who has taken you from me. You—Barbara Frietchie, whom I love better than the South, better than my life." The famous play is in four acts with all of the scenes laid in and around Frederick. The flag waving incident takes place in the fourth act. Mr. Neill will be seen as Captain Trumbull and Miss Edythe Chapman will be seen as Barbara, the role in which she has created a sensation. In fact the entire cast will be the same here as it has been since Mr. Neill first produced the play. A very large amount of elaborate special scenery is carried for the production.

At the Brainerd Opera House next Tuesday evening.

Procuring a box at a drug store I only made a few applications of the ointment and there has not been the slightest annoyance since. KILL THE COMMANDANT

NINETY-FOUR POLITICAL PRISON-

ERS AT CARTAGENA, COLOM-

BIA, ESCAPE.

MUST ALL HAVE PASSPORTS

Street Regulations Promulgated Regarding Travel in the Department of Panama—Reported Sinking of the Libertador by a Venezuelan Man-of-
War Proves to Have Been Unfounded.

Colon, Colombia, Feb. 7.—A rumor that the Libertador had been sunk at Puerto Colombia, Colombia, by a Venezuelan man-of-war is unfounded. According to news received here the Libertador was at Cartagena, Colombia, last Saturday and left Sunday after coaling and taking on board supplies for an unknown destination.

Other news received here from Cartagena tells that 94 political prisoners who were lodged in prison in that city managed to effect their escape Feb. 1.
The escape was attended by a serious affray in which the commander of the prison and the fort and several others were killed. Recapture has not been effected.

By a recent government decree promulgated on the isthmus, pas-ports permitting transit through or in the department of Panama will only be issued to partisans of the government or to neutral foreigners. No one will be allowed upon the streets of Panama or Colon after 10 p. m. who is not provided with a written permission from the proper authorities. In case the enemy threatens attack, says
this decree, street traffic and transit to all not bearing arms in behalf of the government, or who are not members of the public service, will be stopped.

It is reported here that the Liberals have effected a landing at Pedregal.

Former Isthmian Railroad Employe Testifies Before Committee.

Washington, Feb. 7.—S. W. Plume of New Orleans testified before the senate committee on Inter-oceanic canals concerning the feasibility of the Panama route for a canal. Mr.
Plume is a prominent railroad man
and in that capacity spent four years as roadmaster on the Panama railway.
He said the expense of constructing a canal in that region would be very great on account of the condition of the soil. The country, according to his statement, is full of small springs, which keep the soil in so moist a condition that it is impossible to operate it except in the most tedious and expensive manner. He also spoke of the region as the most unhealthy of the whole continent, saying that of 53 men sent to the isthmus as engineers, superintendents and clerks, all but three
had died within three months.

Suffering Among Workmen in Sweden and Norway.

Stockholm, Feb. 7.—There is great suffering among the unemployed in
the chief cities of Sweden and Norway. A union of idle workmen has been formed in Gothenburg and the names of 5,000 persons have been enrolled. These figures are unparalleled in the history of that city. The situation in other labor centers is scarcely more favorable.

The town councils have been petitioned to organize relief works to tide over this period of depression. They are blamed for want of foresight in failing to provide means for carrying the poor through the severities of the present winter.

One Child Dead and Mother and Two Children May Not Recover.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 7.—The entire family of Grant Shirley, a Lake Shore railroad brakeman, including his wife and five children, were overcome by escaping fuel gas. Neighbors forced an entrance to the house and found
one child, a 7-year-old boy, dead. The mother and two other children are still unconscious, but may recover.
Shirley was away on his run. The accident, it is supposed, was due to the fuel gas shortage. The fire in the heater went out during the night and an increase in pressure filled the house to suffocation.

LOOKS BAD FOR INDIA.

No Doubt the Country Is Threatened
With Another Famine.

London, Feb. 7.—From Calcutta the correspondent of The Daily Mail says there is little doubt that India is threatened with another severe famine. This is the more to be dreaded because the area affected is practically the same that has been ravaged during the past two years. Much depends upon the rainfall during the coming fortnight, continues the correspondent, as a large portion of the spring

A Verdict of Manslaughter.

Adrian, Mich., Feb. 7.—The jury
which has been trying Bert Farrington on the charge of having murdered
Jesse Hooker, whom Farrington found in a room with Mrs. Farrington about a month ago, returned a verdict against Farrington of manslaughter.
The case will go to the supreme court.

Two Centennarians Dead.

Toledo, O., Feb. 7.—The two oldest residents of Northwestern Ohio died during the day. They are Mrs. Hannah Torrens, aged 104 years, 7 months and 14 days, and Mrs. Dora Estline, aged 104 years and 1 day. Mrs. Torrens will be buried at Saginaw, Mich., today.

IRELAND SPEAKS.

Says Catholics Do Not Suffer for Their Religion.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Archbishop
John Ireland of St. Paul was the principal speaker at the alumni banquet of the Carroll institute, held here. He sought to disabuse his hearers of the impression which he believed prevailed among Catholics that they suffered because of their religion, suggesting in this connection that many persons of that faith appeared evidently anxious of being half persecuted. He asserted that Catholics do not suffer because of their religion, and said that the idea that they did
is gradually disappearing. They have,
he said, a better chance of accomplishing what they desired than formerly. Instead of waiting until measures prejudicial to their interests were adopted they should protest against any alleged infringement of their rights and they would be given respectful attention.

Statement of Work Accomplished by the Committee on Revision.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—The Rev.
William H. Roberts, the stated clerk of the last Presbyterian general assembly, who is a member of the general committee on revision in session here, gave out the following statement regarding the committee's work:

"The committee has decided tentatively to revise the doctrines of the third chapter of the confession by declaratory statement, also chapter X, section 3, on the salvation of all infants; also chapter XVI, section 7, on good works.

"The other parts, chapter XXII, section 3, on oaths, and chapter XXV section 8, by revision of the text. They have appointed sub-committees to prepare a final form."

Bulgarian Minister of Instruction Shot and Killed.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 7.—M. Kamtin his study by a Macedonian who pretended he wanted to present a petition. The assassin subsequently committed suicide by shooting himself.

Charged With Gross Negligence.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 7.—Because of the recent escape of Frank Duncan, the condemned murderer, and two other prisoners, the grand jury has

Burgin, Jailer Mims and Night Warden Bail. The bill charges gross negligence on the part of the officers.

London, Feb. 7.—The Brussels cor-

owing to the attitude of the powers and the Boer leaders the Dutch government is now firmly determined to abandon the Boer cause and any idea of fresh intervention.

HONORED BY ROYALTY.

Doors of Austrian Court Opened to Steel King Schwab.

WELCOMED BY EMPEROR JOSEPH.

Received Invitation to Court Ball.
Prince Metternich Entertained Him at a Glorious Breakfast and Crowds Cheered Him at Budapest—How He Startled Hungarians.

Mr. Charles M. Schwab, manager of the combined steel interests in the United States, was a bright star recently in the world of Vienna, says the New York Herald. He stopped at the Hotel Bristol, where he occupied the imperial rooms, and left, full of joy, contentment and satisfied pride, for Berlin.

While in Vienna Mr. Schwab managed to enjoy himself immensely. The papers, he said, had driven him away from where he would have wished to stop in the sunny south, but Monte Carlo was made too hot for him by overzealous scribes who, as already known, told too many details of his winings.

"I got eighty cablegrams in one day," said the unfortunate Mr. Schwab, "while at Monte Carlo, asking whether it could possibly be true that I was gambling so high and whether I was not ashamed of myself in my position or something like it."

He expressed much regret that a great deal of fuss had been made out of nothing very much. He had merely done what all do who go to Monte Carlo, played a bit just as he would put a little on a horse at race course, should he visit one, so as to have an interest in the races. But Mr. Schwab holds that it would be an ill construction which from that should lend him
the reputation of being a turf gambler.

Mr. Schwab's record at Vienna was well nigh unrivaled. Just a few points as to his reception by the Kaiser Franz Josef. Specially pleasing was the manner in which the monarch received
him. The emperor would gladly welcome the news that any number of Americans were coming over, and he meant to show that in his reception of
Mr. Schwab.

The steel trust's president made a record in getting an invitation to the court ball. All the invitations had long ceased, and the books of the court were closed. The answer at first was "Impossible," but that there is no "impossible" was shown by the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Schwab were present. Thereby they saw one of the finest sights in the world—a Viennese court ball.

Mrs. Schwab astonished all by a wonderful diamond she wore, and Mr.
Schwab made a record and astonished people in Vienna by ordering a special train to take him to Budapest just as any mortal would have ordered a public cab. So enthusiastic were the Hungarians over his large handedness
and enterprise in the matter that they met him with cries as he arrived and departed of "Eljen, Schwab!" the first word, it may be explained, meaning
"Bravo!"

He had a pleasant experience in tasting some extremely fine wines at
a glorious breakfast given him at the Hotel Bristol by Prince Metternich,
during which he quaffed such nectar
as Johannsberg Cabinet, costing 200 kronen per bottle. At Budapest he was treated to Tokay of the most ancient vintage, which can scarcely be obtained anywhere else but there.

At this "dejeuner d'adieu" there were present, among others, the hereditary Prince Metternich, Count Szapary, who has done Mr. Schwab the honors in Budapest as president of the Park club, considered there one of the finest clubs in the world; Count Sternberg, Herr Novak of Prague, one of the leading commercial men in Austria, and Herren Charles Arthur and Ernst Wolff. Dr. de Griez Wittgen-stein, the largest steel man in Austria, gave a party in Mr. Schwab's honor
the night he and Mrs. Schwab left.
They went direct from that party to the train, a move which rather astonished the guests present, but which
Mr. Schwab described as "the way we do things in America."

People say that Mr. Schwab combined a touch of business with a deal of pleasure and that he found time to talk about the possibilities of the steel interests in Austria and that questions
of an amalgamation of interests were not foreign to the conversation.

House Where Lincoln Died.

Above Judea's purple mantled plain
There hovers still, among the ruins lone,
The spirit of the Christ whose dying
moan
Was heard in heaven and paid our debt in pain.

As subtle perfume lingers with the rose,
Even when its petals flutter to the earth,
So clings the potent mystery of the birth
Of that deep love from which all mercy flows.

Within this house, this room, a martyr
died,
A prophet of a larger liberty,
A liberator setting bondmen free,
A full orbed man, above mere mortal pride.

The cloud rifts opening to celestial glades Oft glimpse him, and his spirit lingers still,
As Christ's sweet influence broods upon the hill
Where the red lily with the sunset fades.

A little girl, with eyes of heavenly blue, Sings through the old place, ignorant of all,
Her angel face, her cheerful, birdlike
call Thalling the heart to life more full, more true.

Dinkelspiel Gets Pointers For His
Conduct at the Coronation.

D. Dinkelspiel, per George V. Hobart, has written for the New York Journal the following burlesque book
review on a timely topic:

"How Americans Should Appear at the Coronation," by Villum Valldoff Astor, authorship of "Kings I Hat Med Up Mit and Vot Id Cost Me" and udder works.

Dis is a book rich has hunted up a long felt want and filled id. So many of us was sidding ofer here, vondering mit bowed heads how vould ve conduc-tion ourselves at der coronation, and just ven der skies seemed darkest Vil-
lum Valldoff chumps to der rescoo, und

"DOAN'D RUSH OUID UND VISH TO SHOOK HANDS MIT HIM."

all vas choy vunce more. Led us quote from der book der instructions vich vill pud us on der right road and keeb us dare till der parade comes along.

CHAPTER VUN.

Royalty is vun uf der most subtle acquaintance vich a man could haf. Today royalty may smile upon you und open der door vich leads to der dining room, bud tomorrow dey may send der butler to show you to der leehouse.

Royalty is divided into two classes—
dem dot invite you to der houses und dem dot cut you out. Der fairst is der most popular und lovable. Der latter is only a reflected light, vich in America ve vould call a shine. Dis, naturally, brings us to der coronation.

CHAPTER TWICE.

I vich to ask as a personal favor dot none of my former countmen come ofer here from America to der coronation in der steerage. Of course dis is a loud vay to travel, bud ve should remember dot, mit der eggception of der wireless telegraph, loudness is nod eferdyng in dis vorld.

In America ebery vun is free—der street car conductors is free to stool on der feets of der passengers, der brakeman is free to invent new stations on der elevated road, der grocer is free to pud sand in der sugar, der gas company is free to have a meter mitoud a conscience, und dare vas many udder freedoms.

Eud in England dare is a vast difference. In America ebery man is any udder man's equal—unless he owes him a cub-ble of dollars. In England dis could nod be because our system of money is so different dot ve find id impossible to lend $2 mitoud security. Again ve approach der coronation.

CHAPTER THREE.

Dare is no doubt dot many Americans
vill come to London during der coronation vich haf never been here during any pre-viousness. To dem dese vords is addressed:
Doan'd eggpect to see der king vaiting for you down on der dock ven der steamboat arrivals. I eggpected dis to habben ven I fairst came ofer here, bud he vas nod dare, und I vill bed $4 I haf more money den you.

Ven you see der king coming down pickled up, doan'd shake hands mit him, shook hands mit him, und doan'd invitation him to steb in der nearest cafe und bite der coldness away from a high ball.
Dis vould be in bad taste. Der liquor in der cafe is liable to be in bad taste also.
Dis is a English choke I haf just made, varranted new und unghable.

Dare remains much to be said about der coronation vich I vill safe for annud-der chabter.

CHAPTER FOUR.

Der idea of der vord coronation is taken from der Latin vords "coro," vich is fancy for "Carrie," und "Xation," vich is her husband's name. I admitt dis mit much reluctance, because I hate to see anyding American mixed up mit such an occasion vich means so much to me und der rest of der nobility.

Darefore I vould say to all Americans to operf dese rules ven you reach dese shores, bud doan'd shake to me any offer den id is necessary. I vish to preserf my English atmosphere. Der coronation must be a grand success. I vill make id so.

DER END.

Dis is a book vich der young can study
mit much encouragement to der future.
Id shows der lesson how a man can ged his feed tangled up in der fringe of society mitoud ripping der fringe. Id shows also how a man can ask for a title und vunder vill dey call him earl or call him dun.

Novelty In Animals.

A new animal reported from Patagonia is the hymchy. It is supposed to be a living example of the supposedly extinct neomylodon, whose remains found recently in Patagonian caves
have caused much scientific interest, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. The animal is supposed to be amphibious and has been seen swimming in rivers.

India Child Widows May Marry.

That one of the native states of India
belonging to the enlightened galkwar
of Baroda has made legal the remarriage of child widows is regarded by missionary workers as indicating the gradual emancipation from oriental caste distinctions. This new law will do away with enforced widowhood in that state.

Sues Balfour for Slander.

London, Feb. 7.—The Sun has brought suit against A. J. Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, for slander because of Mr.
Balfour's declaration in the house that The Sun's interview with him concerning the overtures recently made by The Netherlands government is a fabrication.

KILL THE COMMANDANT

ERS AT CARTAGENA, COLOM-BIA, ESCAPE.

MUST ALL HAVE PASSPORTS

Street Regulations Promulgated Regarding Travel in the Department
of Panama—Reported Sinking of the Libertador by a Venezuelan Man-of-
War Proves to Have Been Unfounded.

Colon, Colombia, Feb. 7.—A rumor
that the Libertador had been sunk at Puerto Colombia, Colombia, by a Ven-
ezuelan man-of-war is unfounded. According to news received here the Lib-
ertador was at Cartagena, Colombia,
last Saturday and left Sunday after
coaling and taking on board supplies
for an unknown destination.

tagena tells that 94 political prisoners
managed to effect their escape Feb. 1.
The escape was attended by a serious
affray in which the commander of the
prison and the fort and several others were killed. Recapture has not been effected.

By a recent government decree
promulgated on the isthmus, pas-
ports permitting transit through or in
the department of Panama will only
be issued to partisans of the government or to neutral foreigners. No one will be allowed upon the streets of Panama or Colon after 10 p. m. who is
not provided with a written permission from the proper authorities. In case the enemy threatens attack, says
to all not bearing arms in behalf of
the government, or who are not members of the public service, will be stopped.

It is reported here that the Liberals
have effected a landing at Pedregal.

Former Isthmian Railroad Employee
Testifies Before Committee.

Washington, Feb. 7.—S. W. Plume
of New Orleans testified before the senate committee on interoceanic
canals concerning the feasibility of
the Panama route for a canal. Mr.
Plume is a prominent railroad man
and in that capacity spent four years
as roadmaster on the Panama railway.
He said the expense of constructing a
the soil. The country, according to
his statement, is full of small springs, which keep the soil in so moist a condition that it is impossible to operate it except in the most expensive and expensive manner. He also spoke of the region as the most unhealthy of the whole continent, saying that of 53 men sent to the isthmus as engineers, superintendents and clerks, all but three
had died within three months.

Suffering Among Workmen in Sweden and Norway.

Stockholm, Feb. 7.—There is great
suffering among the unemployed in
the chief cities of Sweden and Nor-
way. A union of idle workmen has
names of 5,000 persons have been enrolled. These figures are unparalleled
in the history of that city. The situa-
more favorable.

The town councils have been petitioned to organize relief works to tide
the poor through the severities of the present winter.

One Child Dead and Mother and Two Children May Not Recover.

Eric, Pa., Feb. 7.—The entire family of Grant Shirley, a Lake Shore
railroad brakeman, including his wife
escaping fuel gas. Neighbors forced
one child, a 7-year-old boy, dead. The mother and two other children are
still unconscious, but may recover.
Shirley was away on his run. The accident, it is supposed, was due to the
heater went out during the night and
an increase in pressure filled the house
to suffocation.

LOOKS BAD FOR INDIA.

No Doubt the Country is Threatened

London, Feb. 7.—From Calcutta the
correspondent of The Daily Mail says
there is little doubt that India is
threatened with another severe fam-
ine. This is the more to be dreaded because the area affected is practically
the same that has been ravaged during
fortnight, continues the correspondent, as a large portion of the spring

A Verdict of Manslaughter.

Adrian, Mich., Feb. 7.—The jury
which has been trying Bert Farrington
Jesse Hooker, whom Farrington found in a room with Mrs. Farrington about
a month ago, returned a verdict
against Farrington of manslaughter.

Two Centennarians Dead.

Toledo, O., Feb. 7.—The two oldest
residents of Northwestern Ohio died
during the day. They are Mrs. Hannah Torrens, aged 104 years, 7 months and 14 days, and Mrs. Dora Estene, aged 104 years and 1 day. Mrs. Torrens will be buried at Saginaw, Mich., Saturday.

IRELAND SPEAKS.

Religion.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Archbishop
John Ireland of St. Paul was the principal speaker at the alumni banquet
of the Carroll institute, held here. He sought to disabuse his hearers of the
impression which he believed pre-valled among Catholics that they suffered because of their religion, sug-
persons of that faith appeared evidently anxious of being half persecuted. He asserted that Catholics do
not suffer because of their religion,
and said that the idea that they did
is gradually disappearing. They have,
he said, a better chance of accomplishing what they desired than formerly. Instead of waiting until measures prejudicial to their interests were adopted they should protest against
any alleged infringement of their rights
and they would be given respectful attention.

Statement of Work Accomplished by

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—The Rev.
William H. Roberts, the stated clerk of the last Presbyterian general assembly, who is a member of the general committee on revision in session
here, gave out the following statement
regarding the committee's work:
"The committee has decided tentatively to revise the doctrines of the third chapter of the confession by
declaratory statement, also chapter
X, section 3, on the salvation of all infants; also chapter XVI, section 7,
on good works.

"The other parts, chapter XXII, section 3, on oaths, and chapter XXV
section 8, by revision of the text. They have appointed sub-committees to prepare a final form."

Bulgarian Minister of Instruction Shot
and Killed.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 7.—M. Kamtcheff, the minister of public instruction, was assassinated during the day in his study by a Macedonian who pretended he wanted to present a petition. The assassin subsequently com-

Charged With Gross Negligence.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 7.—Because
of the recent escape of Frank Duncan,
the condemned murderer, and two
other prisoners, the grand jury has found an indictment against Sheriff Burgin, Jailer Mims and Night Warden Ball. The bill charges gross negligence on the part of the officers.

London, Feb. 7.—The Brussels correspondent of The Daily Telegraph declares it to be absolutely certain that owing to the attitude of the powers
and the Boer leaders the Dutch government is now firmly determined to abandon the Boer cause and any idea
of fresh intervention.

Norwegian Bark Adolph Lost.

London, Feb. 7.—The Norwegian bark Adolph, Captain Andersen, which sailed from Hamburg Jan. 21 for Brunswick, Ga., is presumed to have been lost. Five bodies and some letters addressed to the care of Captain Andersen have been washed ashore at Sheerness.

and created cardinal June 19, 1899.

of nothing very much. He had merely done what all do who go to Monte Carlo, played a bit just as he would
put a little on a horse at race course,
should he visit one, so as to have an interest in the races. But Mr. Schwab
holds that it would be an ill construction which from that should lend him
the reputation of being a turf gambler.

Mr. Schwab's record at Vienna was well high unrivaled. Just a few points as to his reception by the Kaiser Franz Josef. Specially pleasing was the manner in which the monarch received
him. The emperor would gladly welcome the news that any number of
meant to show that in his reception of
Mr. Schwab.

The steel trust's president made a record in getting an invitation to the court ball. All the invitations had long ceased, and the books of the
was, "Impossible," but that there is no "impossible" was shown by the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Schwab were present. Thereby they saw one of the finest sights in the world—a Viennese court ball.

Mrs. Schwab astonished all by a wonderful diamond she wore, and Mr.
Schwab made a record and astonished
people in Vienna by ordering a special train to take him to Budapest
just as any mortal would have ordered
a public cab. So enthusiastic were the Hungarians over his large handedness
and enterprise in the matter that they
met him with cries as he arrived and
departed of "Eljen, Schwab!" the first word, it may be explained, meaning
"Bravo!"

He had a pleasant experience in
tasting some extremely fine wines at
a glorious breakfast given him at the Hotel Bristol by Prince Metternich,
during which he quaffed such nectar
as Johannisberg Cabinet, costing 200 kronen per bottle. At Budapest he was treated to Tokay of the most ancient vintage, which can scarcely be obtained anywhere else but there.

At this "dejeuner d'adieu" there
were present, among others, the hereditary Prince Metternich, Count Szapary,
who has done Mr. Schwab the honors in Budapest as president of the Park club, considered there one of the finest clubs in the world; Count Sternberg, Herr Novak of Prague, one
of the leading commercial men in Austria, and Herren Charles Arthur and Ernst Wolff. Dr. de Gries Wittgen-stein, the largest steel man in Austria,
gave a party in Mr. Schwab's honor
the night he and Mrs. Schwab left.
They went direct from that party to
the train, a move which rather astonished the guests present, but which
Mr. Schwab described as "the way we do things in America."

People say that Mr. Schwab combined a touch of business with a deal of
pleasure and that he found time to talk about the possibilities of the steel
interests in Austria and that questions
of an amalgamation of interests were
not foreign to the conversation.

House Where Lincoln Died.
Above Judas's purple mantled plain
There hovers still, among the ruins lone,
The spirit of the Christ whose dying
moan
Was heard in heaven and paid our debt in pain.

As subtle perfume lingers with the rose,
Even when its petals flutter to the earth,
birth
Of that deep love from which all mercy
flows.

Within this house, this room, a martyr
died,
A prophet of a larger liberty,
A liberator setting bondmen free,
A full orb'd man, above mere mortal pride.

The cloud rifts opening to celestial glades
Oft glimpse him, and his spirit lingers
still,
As Christ's sweet influence broods upon
the hill
Where the red lily with the sunset fades.

Sings through the old place, ignorant of
all,
Her angel face, her cheerful, birdlike
call
Thrilling the heart to life more full, more true.

Dinkelspiel Gets Pointers For His
Conduct at the Coronation.

D. Dinkelspiel, per George V. Hobart, has written for the New York Journal the following burlesque book
review on a timely topic:

"How Americans Should Appear at der Coronation," by Vilum Valldoff Astor, authorship of "Kings I Haf Med Up Mit und Vot Id Cost Me" und udder works.

Dis is a book vich has hunted up a long felt want and filled id. So many of us vas adding ofer here, vondering
mit bowed heads how vould ve conduc-tion ourselfs ad der coronation, und just ven der skies seemed darkest Vil-
lum Valldoff chumps to der rescoo, und

from der book der instructions vich vill put us on der right road und keeb us

CHAPTER VUN

Royalty is vun uf der most subtle acknavances vich a man could haf. Today royalty may smile upon you und open der door vich leads to der dining room, bud tomorrow dey may send der butler to show you to der lochouse.

Royalty is divided into two classes—
dem dot invite you to der houses und dem dot cut you out. Der fairist is der most popular und lovable. Der latter is only a reflected light, vich in America ve vould call a shine. Dis, naturally, brings us to der coronation.

CHAPTER TWICE

I vich to ask as a personal favor dot none of my former countrymen come over here from America to der coronation in der steerage. Of course dis is a loud vay to travel, bud ve should remember dot mit der aggragation uf der vireless telegraph, loudness is nod eferinging in dis vorld.

In America eferly vun is free—der street car conductor is free to steb on der feets
of der passengers, der brakeman is free
road, der grocer is free to pud sand in
der sugar, der gas company is free to
have a meter mitoud a conscience, und
dare vas many udder freedoms.

Bud in England dare is a wast difference. In America eferly man is any udder man's equal—unless he owes him a cubbie uf dollars. In England dis could nod be because our system of money is so different dot ve find id impossible to lend $2 mitoud security. Again ve approach der coronation.

CHAPTER TREE

Dare is no doubt dot many Americans
vill come to London during der coronation
vich haf never been here during any pre-viousness. To dem dese vords is addressed.

Doan'd eggpect to see der king valting for you down der dock ven der steamboat arrivals. I eggpected dis to habben
ven I fairst came ofer here, bud he vas
nod dare, und I vill bed $4 I haf more money den you.

Ven you see der king coming down Pickledilly, doan'd rush outd und vish to shook hands mit him, und doan'd invitation him to steb in der nearest cafe und
bite der coldness away from a high ball.
Dis vould be in bad taste. Der liquor in der cafe is liable to be in bad taste also.
Dis is a English chok I haf yust made, varranted new und unlaughable.

Dare remains much to be said about
der coronation vich I vill safe for annud-
der chabter.

Der idea uf der vord coronation is taken from der Latin vords "coro," vich is fancy for "Carrie," und "Natio," vich is her husband's name. I admission dis mit much reluctance, because I hate to see
anyding American mixed up mit such an occasion vich means so much to me und der rest uf der nobility.

Darefore I vould say to all Americans to opert dese rules ven you reach dese shores, bud doan'd speak to me any offer-den id is necessary. I vish to preeserv my English atmosphere. Der coronation must be a grand success. I vill make id so.

DER END.

Dis is a book vich der young can study
mit much encouragement to der future.
Id shows der lesson how a man can ged his feed tangled up in der fringe uf society mitoud ripping der fringe. Id shows
also how a man can ask for a title und vunder vill dey call him earl or call him down.

Novelty In Animals.

A new animal reported from Patagonia is the hymchy. It is supposed to be a living example of the supposedly extinct neomylodon, whose remains
found recently in Patagonian caves
have caused much scientific interest, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. The animal is supposed to be amphibious and has been seen swimming in rivers.

India Child Widows May Marry.

That one of the native states of India
belonging to the enlightened galkwar
of Baroda has made legal the remar-
riage of child widows is regarded by
missionary workers as indicating the
gradual emancipation from oriental
do away with enforced widowhood in that state.
